Pan-Asian American Community House

UNIVERSITY of PENNSYLVANIA

The Pan-Asian American Community House (PAACH) is Penn's cultural center for students interested in the diverse cultures and experiences of Asian and Pacific Islander (API) communities, including those from East, Southeast, South, Central, and West Asia, and the Pacific Islands.

Since 2000, we've been supporting students' academic, personal, and professional growth through advising, leadership development, advocacy, and a wide range of social and cultural programming.

WHAT WE OFFER

A Place to Belong, Learn, and Grow

Relax and connect in our cozy PAACH Lounge.

Meet new friends at PAACH Preceptorials and Open Houses

Celebrate API cultures with events like PAACH Annual Mural, Lunar New Year, Diwali, Holi, Nowruz, Ramadan, etc.

Reflect and grow through our Explore. Reflect. Become. Series and Asian Talks—spaces to explore how cultures and identities shape our lives.

SUPPORTING PAACH STUDENT GROUPS

Empowering Leaders, Building Community

We advise and support 50+ API undergraduate and graduate student organizations.

We guide student leaders in using campus resources and fostering inclusive communities.
